Summary: AU! What if Kion and Kiara weren't siblings but mates ruling the pridelands. They have a son named Jabari, who's the heir. Kovu, Kiara's old mate, doesn't know about Kion nor Jabari, thinks that Kiara is still in love with him. Boy is he wrong! Maybe Jabari will be the key for Kovu to understand that Kiara and Kion are the rulers, and he isn't with Kiara anymore. Will it work?

1. Chapter 1

"Kion, I love you."

"And I love you Kiara."

"What did your pride say, prince boy?"

"Heh funny, but they said that they'll join your pride princess."

"I heard that you had a old mate, who was he?"

"His name was Kovu, he was the outland prince."

"Outland huh? Good to know."

"What? don't think I could handle a outlander prince?"

"I never said that Kiara, but now that you said that. Want to have alone time?"

"Oh ha ha, Kion you know that my father is going to talk you about being the future king."

"Well had to ask, maybe after the talk?"

"Fine."

While Kion and Kiara were talking, Simba was making his way to his daughter and her mate. Kion was the prince of Daichi, meaning Big, great, or wisdom. Kion's mother and father raised him to be a great leader, Kiara and Kion were betrothed when Kovu and Kiara had just met. And now that Kovu and Kiara weren't a couple, it seemed easyer for the kingdom. Simba had told the Pridelands about Dacichi and what it meant to the lands, they all seemed to like the idea of Daichi living and joining their pride. Kion and Kiara looked happier with each other more than Kovu with Kiara, Kion's mother and father, Adia and Chane, were very happy for their son. Nala and Simba loved looking at Kion and Kiara when they were nuzzling and talking about the future.

"Kion, Kiara."

"Daddy."

"Simba."

"Well since you two are the next rulers, I have to remind you about two cubs that you might have."

"Go on Simba."

"If you do have twin cubs, only one can be the heir. And thats mean for the other one, well, that one might think you hate him or her. Prove that one wrong."

"Okay."

"Daddy, what will with the outlands?"

"They'll need to learn that their not welcome, and with Daichi living with us, they may try to start a war with us."

"Don't worry Simba, my pride has the best fighters, so we're good."

"I hope so."

"My son is telling the truth king Simba."

"Chane."

"Dad, where's mom?"

"She with queen Nala."

"Okay."

"Kiara, you'll make a wonderful wife for my son."

>10 MONTHS LATER

'_Come on Kiara, please make it!'_

"Kion, it'll be a while before the cub's born."

"I know that!"

"My son has my way of being nervous."

"Really Chane?"

"Yes king Simba. Ever since the day he was born, I was very nervous about being a father."

'You didn't have to say that dad! I know that I'm nervous!"

"Well it can't be help."

What seemed to be an hour, the king and the others were finally allowed to see the queen. When they arrived to the queen, the king ran straight over and nuzzled her. In the queen's arms was a baby newborn cub, the cub had his father's fur, mane colour, his mother's eyes. Kiara smiled at her and Kion's cub, Simba and Nala smiled at the cub, while Adia and Chane went over their son and nuzzled him. Kiara, then licked the head of the cub, the cub opened it's eyes and relieved reddish-brown eyes, the same eyes as Kiara's.

"Kiara, the cub it's so cute."

"It's a he Kion."

"H-he? It's a boy?"

"Yup, what do you want to name him?"

"I want to name him Jabari, meaning fearless and brave."

"I love that name."

"I second that."

Jabari had a nice celebration of his birth, after that he got to spend time with his parents. He seemed to love his mother and father a whole bunch, so much that he didn't notice his grandparents. Kion and Kiara loved their son more than anything! The real question is, how will Jabari sleep tonight.

>KIARA'S DREAM

"Huh? Jabari what are you looking at son?"

"That lion mom, who is he?"

'Wait is that Kovu?!"

"Mom?"

"Don't worry, I got this."

"Kiara!"

"Kovu what are you doing here?"

"For you! Come on, will start our own pride!"

"Kovu, I'm already married and I have a cub."

"What? To who?"

"To Kiongozi! And we have a son!"

"Kion?! The prince of Daichi?"

"Yes, or rather the king of the Pridelands!"

"B-But I thought we were in love!"

"Not anymore!"

"Kiara?"

_"Kion! There you are, this outlander came."_

"Kovu!"

"Kion!"

"ROAR!"

"ROAR!"

"Mom, what's going on?"

"Jabari, go see grandpa and grandma now."

"Okay."

END OF KIARA'S DREAM

>KION'S DREAM

"And one day this kingdom will be yours."

"All of it?"

"Yes son, all of it."

"Cool!"

"Well want to see mom?"

"Yes! And maybe grandma!"

"Okay, Okay."

"Awesome!"

"What?"

"Dad?"

"Nothing Jabari, just go see grandma and mommy."

"Alright bye dad."

"Bye son."

"Love you!"

"Love you too. And stay with them."

"Got it."

'And Kovu, stay away from my family!'

END OF KION'S DREAM

>Hey guys, I thought that I might try a random story. I really don't know what to think about this, so tell me in the reviews please! I can go on with this story if you guys like it, and if you don't that's fine with me.

2. Chapter 2

5 DAYS LATER

"Come Jabari, say dada."

"Meow!"

"Kion, he isn't going to say dada so early."

"You don't know that Kiara! He could."

"As if you didn't say dada so early."

"Mom, I get it. So I said dada rather than mama."

"Kion, you know that you loved your father alot. I think Jabari isn't going to say dada."

"Adia, you should never expect a word to be mama or dada."

"Well Nala, this cub could say mama first."

"Adia."

"Sorry queen Kiara."

"giggle"

"Jabari really? You giggle?"

"Honey, it's normal."

"I know."

"Meow!"

"Jabari, please say dada."

>'There, now can I please rest?"

"NO! Not until Kovu get's revenge."

"KOVU, doesn't know."

"Angra Mainyu, do you really think I'm dumb?"

"Not really. But Scar, anyway you put this, it seems like a vey idiotic idea."

"I know, but I say what happens and what to say."

"Shut up moron."

"YOU HEARD ME!"

>KOVU'S POV

I ran all the way from the outlands to the pridelands. Wondering how Kiara was doing, I ran harder, until I couldn't breath. I stop when I saw a cub being held up, was that Kiara's cub? If it was, was I the father? Wait, who's that lion with her? He has a red mane, just like Simba's, but it was way lighter. I quietly watched the celebration, and when the cub was held down, that lion and Kiara started to speak.

"Well that's your future king!" the lion spoke out, all animals cheered wanting to see the cub one more time. But of curse, they couldn't.

"And hiss's name is Jabari!" Kiara shouted, she looked more young and cute than ever. I wonder if they can see me, but I don't think they can.

"ONE MORE TIME!" A bird shouted to Kiara and the lion, " SHOW US JABARI ONE MORE TIME!"

"We're sorry but he needs to rest! You'll see him when he's about 5 months old!"

After that the animals left, I hid from the animals. I knew that they hated me, after all I almost killed Simba. Yet I still love Kiara, so I won't lose her to that lion! Watch your back lion, watch your back! You'll be sorry for stealing MY queen!

'Of curse he will.'

'Huh? Who said that?'

'I did Kovu, your father.'

'Your not my father Scar!'

'Says the one who said that I'm apart of him.'

'I only said that because you were the closes one I had to a father.'

'Ouch, well want to speak to him?'

'...Yes! Please!'

'Hello son.'

'DAD! What happened to you?'

'I was killed by Zira, your mother, hated me for saying that Simba was the rightful king.'

'Dad...what's your name?'

'My name is not Angra Mainyu, but Akakios.'

'Dad, I'm so sorry.'

'It's not your fault son.'

'Dad, do you know the lion with Kiara?'

'He's name is Kiongozi or Kion for short. Their son is the heir.'

No.
